PATTERN INFORMATION

This shrug is made from a simple rectangle worked in a cable pattern. When finished this rectangle is folded and partially sewn along the side seams to form the armholes. Cuff stitches are picked up and worked around in 2x2 rib after the body is complete. Finally a wide ribbed edging is worked around entire piece in 2x2 rib. Circular needles are used to accommodate the large number of stitches. When working the body panel do not join, work flat in rows. Work the cuffs and the edging in the round.
